Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs)

Q1: What is the MFDS, and what is its role?

A1: The MFDS (Malaysian Food and Drug Administration) is a government agency responsible for regulating food, drugs, cosmetics, medical devices, and traditional medicine in Malaysia. Its role is to safeguard public health by ensuring that these products are safe, effective, and of high quality. They enforce regulations, conduct inspections, and approve new products before they can be sold in the country.

Q2: How long does the MFDS registration process take?

A2: The timeframe for MFDS registration varies significantly depending on the product type, completeness of the application, and the MFDS's workload. While there's no fixed timeframe, you should expect the process to take several months, potentially longer for complex products or applications with deficiencies. Proactive preparation and meticulous attention to detail can help expedite the process.

Q3: What are the penalties for non-compliance with MFDS regulations?
